

CEO Questions & Answers

The ten foundational questions this package depends on

Context

Bart, the previous sales partner in this arrangement, misrepresented information during the initial discussions. The CEO has identified this independently and asked to deal directly going forward. This is a genuine reset — these ten questions exist to establish a clean, verified factual baseline before any market analysis, go-to-market planning, or financial modelling is finalized. Send these as an opening message; treat the answers as the foundation the rest of this package is built on.

The ten questions

1. What is the actual deal structure — equity or agency? Is this an equity joint venture where I co-own and operate a UK company (e.g. 50/50), or a commission/agency arrangement where I'm paid a percentage of contract value with no equity stake? I want this confirmed clearly before anything else, because it determines the legal structure, funding approach, and my personal risk entirely — and I want to make sure whatever was discussed with Bart reflects what you actually intended.

2. What did Bart actually represent to you, on my behalf? Since I now know Bart wasn't straightforward with me, I want to reconcile what he told you was agreed, proposed, or promised — from my side and from yours. I'd rather start from a confirmed shared baseline than carry forward anything he may have misrepresented in either direction.

3. What is RRUP contributing, versus what's expected of me? Specifically: the product/IP licence, the existing SalesOps CRM brand and salesopscrm.com site, any capital, versus what you expect me to fund or build myself.

4. Is there any existing UK presence, pipeline, or leads already in motion? The SalesOps CRM website already makes some UK-market claims publicly. Is there any real UK pipeline, leads, or committed activity behind that, or am I genuinely starting from zero?

5. Can you share real, checkable reference clients and case studies? Specifically your largest and most notable clients, with enough detail that I can responsibly reference them in UK pitches — I want to only ever say things about your client base that you can back up directly if a prospect checks.

6. Is Grupa Polsat Plus a genuine RRUP client? This came up in earlier planning material as a flagship reference. I haven't been able to verify it independently and want to hear it from you directly before using it anywhere — if it's real, I'd like the detail to use it properly; if not, I need to know that now rather than later.

7. Has any UK-specific product localisation already happened? VAT/GBP handling, MCS/DNO/ECO4 compliance fields, UK-compliant proposal templates — is any of this built, or is scoping and building it entirely on me?

8. Would I have exclusive UK territory rights, and under what conditions? And what would change or revoke that exclusivity, if anything?

9. How are the commercial mechanics actually structured? If commission-based: paid upfront on total contract value, or monthly on recurring revenue — and do I keep commission on renewals? If equity-based: what percentage, and what triggers vesting or forfeiture?

10. What timeline and expectations are you working to, and what's the review point? What does success look like in your view over the first 6–12 months, and what happens if that timeline isn't met — is there a defined review or exit point, or is this open-ended?

Record the answers below (or in a follow-up version of this document) and flag anywhere they change conclusions elsewhere in this package — particularly Folder 07 (legal structure), Folder 08 (funding), and Folder 10 (financial model), all of which are currently written as frameworks pending exactly this information.
