BOTTOM LINE UP FRONT

Two actions clear most of the compliance obligation: (1) register with the ICO (quick, low-cost, online), and (2) put a Data Processing Agreement in place with RRUP (drafted with the partnership agreement). Do both at formation and the operation starts lawful.

Action 1 — ICO registration

Step	Detail
Who	The UK entity (once formed, Pack 14)
How	Online via the ICO; pay the data-protection fee
When	At formation — before processing personal data at scale
Output	Registered controller; on the public register

Action 2 — Data Processing Agreement with RRUP

Step	Detail
Why	Personal data flows to RRUP's EU servers; roles must be defined
What	Controller/processor terms; cross-border transfer mechanism; security obligations
With whom	RRUP (Pack 14); drafted by the solicitor (Pack 14 Solicitor_Brief)
When	Alongside the partnership agreement

FOLD INTO THE LEGAL ENGAGEMENT

Both actions ride along with the company formation and partnership drafting you're already doing (Pack 14). Handling them together is efficient and ensures nothing is missed — put them explicitly on the launch checklist (Pack 21).

Implication

Two concrete, low-cost actions convert an abstract obligation into a closed item. This is compliance done properly and cheaply, at the right time.
