BOTTOM LINE UP FRONT

Payaca is the strongest direct competitor: UK-native, renewables-specific, MCS-compliant, well-regarded. Its exposure is price posture — £999–1,199/month flat plus £1,500 onboarding — which prices out the smallest, fastest-growing installers. That segment is the entry wedge.

1. Profile

Attribute	Detail
Positioning	UK-native, dedicated platform for solar/heat-pump/battery/EV installers
Capability	CRM, pipeline, MCS-compliant proposals, scheduling, invoicing
Pricing	Growth £999–1,199/mo (annual vs monthly) + one-off £1,500 onboarding; Accelerator £299/mo for 12 months for new installers; SMS 4p extra; all ex-VAT
Reputation	Strong; often cited as the most complete UK renewables installer platform

2. Strengths (respect them)

- UK-native and MCS-fluent — no localisation gap; speaks the compliance language natively.
- Category leader mindshare — often the default shortlist entry for UK renewables installers.
- Complete workflow — genuinely covers CRM → proposal → scheduling → invoicing.

3. Where it is beatable

THE PRICE CEILING

A ~£1,000/month + £1,500-upfront commitment is a real barrier for a 5–10-person installer just outgrowing spreadsheets — exactly the fastest-growing segment (Pack 06). A per-seat model (Pack 02) can enter that segment at a fraction of the cost. Payaca's own "Accelerator" discount to £299/mo for new installers is a tacit admission that its standard price deters the small end.

- Small-installer price sensitivity — the wedge.
- Single-market focus — UK-only; RRUP's cross-vertical, multi-country platform depth is a different story (to be demo-verified).
- Flat pricing doesn't reward starting small and growing — per-seat does.

4. How NOT to compete

Do not attack Payaca on renewables-feature depth or MCS-fluency you haven't demo-verified — that is their home turf. Compete on price model and breadth, and on the status quo (Pack 09), not on out-Payaca-ing Payaca at its own game on day one.
