BOTTOM LINE UP FRONT

SalesOps CRM should claim one position: "the proven, multi-trade installer platform priced for growing businesses — not just the ones that can already afford £1,000 a month." It combines three verified advantages (proven scale, cross-vertical breadth, per-seat pricing) against the one gap both incumbents leave open: the small, growing installer.

1. The positioning statement

For growing UK renewables and multi-trade installers who have outgrown spreadsheets but aren't ready for £1,000-a-month flat-fee software, SalesOps CRM is the proven, multi-vertical installer platform — priced per seat so it scales with you, backed by 600+ live deployments.

2. The three pillars (each verified)

Pillar	Evidence	Against
Proven	600+ deployments, 15,000+ users	Neutralises "unproven newcomer"
Broad	8 verticals in one platform	Single-vertical / UK-only rivals
Priced for growth	Per-seat vs £999+/mo flat	Payaca's price ceiling; Reonic's enterprise tilt

3. What we deliberately do NOT claim

DISCIPLINE

We do not claim superior MCS-feature depth, UK-native fluency, or specific integrations we have not demo-verified (Pack 20). We do not use the Polsat reference (Pack 02). Over-claiming against Payaca on its home turf, or leaning on an unverified client, would trade short-term punch for credibility — the opposite of the partner-grade standard this package holds to.

4. Implication

This position is ownable because it is true and because neither incumbent occupies it. It flows directly into the pitch (Pack 09) and the ICP (Pack 06): sell proof and price to the growing small installer, hold breadth as the expansion story.
