BOTTOM LINE UP FRONT

Given the prior partner's misrepresentations, nothing should be verbal. This checklist enumerates the terms to confirm in writing under either structure, so the reset with the CEO produces a clean, documented baseline — not another round of assumptions.

Terms to confirm — both structures

Term	Confirm
Contributions	What RRUP provides (product, brand, IP licence, capital) vs. what you provide (Pack 22 Q3)
Revenue mechanics	Commission % or equity split; on TCV or recurring; renewals included? (Q9)
Territory	UK exclusivity — granted? conditions? what revokes it? (Q8)
IP & brand	Who owns UK customer relationships, data, the SalesOps CRM UK brand
Term & exit	Duration, notice, what happens to customers/commission on exit
Liability	Your exposure for product faults, data, engineering
Support obligations	What RRUP must provide (product, localisation, technical) (Q7)

Equity-JV-specific terms

Reserved matters; board composition; deadlock mechanism; capital calls; valuation method; drag/tag rights (see Deadlock_And_Exit).

Agency-specific terms

Commission schedule and timing; clawback conditions; minimum performance; post-termination commission tail; confirmation of no product/infra liability.

THE DISCIPLINE

Every item above goes into a written agreement drafted/reviewed by a UK solicitor (see Solicitor_Brief) before signing. The cost of proper drafting is trivial against the cost of a misunderstanding — a lesson the Bart episode already taught at no small price.

Implication

Take this checklist into the CEO conversation and into the solicitor engagement. It turns "we broadly agreed" into a documented, enforceable baseline.
